Dear Ron,

Thank you for your invitation to join JOHN HANCOCK's wardroom reception on Friday, 9 March. While I relish the idea of attending the reception, I regret that I am able to give only a tentative acceptance at this point in time. [redacted] will keep you informed on this.

STAT

Needless to say, Mrs. Turner and I look forward to the commissioning and to meeting you and your crew.

Yours,

Admiral Stansfield Turner, USN (RET)
Director of Central Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D. C. 20505

Dear Admiral Turner:

The date for commissioning of John Hancock (DD 981) is rapidly approaching. The ship is making remarkable progress and has performed well at sea during Builder's Trials on 15-16 December, a mini-trial on 8 January, and most recently the acceptance trial on 15-16 January. I think you will see a vast difference since your last visit to the ship.

The night before commissioning the ships officers and I will host a reception at Longfellow House in Pascagoula. We would be especially honored if Mrs. Turner and you could join us at 1900. Of course a formal invitation will follow later; however, I did want to extend this personal invitation, recognizing the need for advance warning in your busy schedule.

I will keep you advised of our progress and send you a Commissioning Program as soon as they come off the press.

Sincerely,

Cdr. R. C. Wilgenbusch
